Former Pakistani regional councillor Malik Amin Aslam was re-elected for a second term (2017-2020) during the Congress. Other highlights of the year include the award of three major projects, including a sustainable forest management project funded by GEF, progress in CPEC by signing an agreement with a Chinese company in Karachi and joining hands with the Pakistani Navy for a massive mangrove plantation campaign along the coast of Pakistan. Initiatives such as the Pakistan Sustainable Transport (PAKSTRAN) project and the National Action Programme (CCP) have produced some commendable results since they were completed at the end of the year. It is worth mentioning here that PAKSTRAN was the only sustainable transport project within the IUCN network worldwide and has dealt fairly well with at least three of the 17 UN Sustainable Development Goals. A key attraction of 2016 was also a regional symposium on musty, which was a success of a year-long project to protect the musty. The symposium addressed the causes of the dramatic decline in the population of musty in South Asia in recent years, presented several important solutions and laid the foundations for a robust national strategy for the protection of musty. On the heels of the Mustache Protection project, another project entitled Integrated Approach to Education, Capacity Building and Coastal Community Sustainability Development in Sindh and Balochistan has been launched, funded by the USAID Small Grants Ambassador's Fund program. This project aims to extend the achievements of our previous partnership with USAID by focusing on raising environmental awareness in schools and fishing communities, as well as research on the illegal trade in freshwater turtles. Our commitment to the private sector has also expanded, thanks to new projects signed with the Engro Foundation and Sui Southern Gas Company Limited (SSGC). As always, we remain committed to promoting sustainable and inclusive growth while ensuring environmental protection for future generations. Looking ahead, I am optimistic that IUCN Pakistan will continue to set itself ambitious goals and strive for high standards with the same innovation, dedication and perseverance as it has always demonstrated.
